Click on the window that appears 3) Now click on OK 4) Enter your password, which by default is blank when Windows is installed 5) Click on OK. 6) A window opens asking you to restart your PC. Click on Restart 7) Restart your system and try to install the driver again. Q: How to create a data structure from dynamic enum values using EPL query language? I have a type which is an enum and I want to create a data structure which contains the possible values of the enum. I want to be able to easily implement queries in which I need to add or remove an enum value from the data structure. I could write a hardcoded string array which contains all the possible enum values, but is there a way to do it using EPL query language? An example of my enum: package logic.providers.onlpg; import java.util.Arrays; import java.util 3da54e8ca3
